FUDAN UNIVERSITY

Fudan University (simplified Chinese: 复旦大学 ; traditional Chinese: 復旦大學 ; pinyin: Fùdàn Dàxué), located in Shanghai, China, is one of the most prestigious and selective universities in China. It is consistently ranked in the world's top 100 most academic universities. It is also a member in the C9 League. Its institutional predecessor was founded in 1905, shortly before the end of China's imperial Qing dynasty. Fudan is now composed of four campuses in downtown Shanghai, including Handan (邯鄲), Fenglin (楓林), Zhangjiang (張江), and Jiangwan (江灣), which share the same central administration. Fudan is home to about 40, 000 students and staffs. There are 11 Level I national key academic disciplines and 19 Level II national key academic disciplines. Over the past hundred years, Fudan University has made outstanding contributions to the country by developing talent, innovating in science and technology, carrying forward civilization, and serving society.

CAMPUS LIFE

International Students Dormitory

Fudan International Students Dormitory is located in northwest of Fudan campus. The Students' cafeteria and the Gym are behind the International Students Dormitory. The lobby of the main building includes: reception desk, mini-supermarket, reading area, mail boxes and a 24-hour reception desk service. All rooms in the main building are equipped with balcony, air-conditioner, private bathroom and Internet portal.

Guanghua Towers

Guanghua Towers are on the main campus. It takes the main teaching tasks in academic terms, and consists of four buildings: east and west main buildings, and east and west supplementary buildings. The Center for BRICS Studies is located on the 9th floor of the West Main Building (simplified Chinese: 西 (xī) 主 (zhǔ) 楼 (lóu)).

Catering

There are two student canteens on the campus. One is Beiyuan Canteen (simplified Chinese: 北 (běi) 苑 (yuàn) 餐 (cān) 厅 (tīng)) to the southeast of Foreign Students Dormitory, the other is Danyuan Canteen (simplified Chinese: 旦 (dàn) 苑 (yuàn) 餐 (cān) 厅 (tīng)) not far away from Guanghua Towers.

Student Card

You will receive a student card from the Center. A student card is commonly used to pay for the dishes in the student canteens. It is a digital financial account that a student can see it as a debit card used in the University.

The deposit in the card can be increased, in either a student canteen or the 1st floor of Guanghua Towers, by converting cash or transferring from a real debit card or credit card.

Shopping

FamilyMart is a chain store almost everywhere in Shanghai, with many of them located within the campus of Fudan. One of the stores is in the east of the Beiyuan Canteen near the International Students Dormitory. If you want some other various choices, feel free to visit the Student Supermarket near the Yeyaozhen Building(叶 (yè) 耀 (yào) 珍 (zhēn) 楼 (lóu)) or go to the BLT Supermarket at B2 of Hopson One(合 (hé) 生 (shēng) 汇 (huì)) at Xiangyin Road No.1099.

Hospitals

There is a school infirmary in the southeast corner of the main campus, in which mild illnesses can be treated. The nearest hospital outside the University is Changhai Hospital: No.174, Changhai Rd.; Tel: 021-55786628; Website: www.chhospital.com.cn

SIGHTS IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai (上海) is the largest city in China, and one of the largest metropolitan areas in the world, with over 20 million people. Located on China's central eastern coast, it just lies at the mouth of the Yangtze River.

Originally a fishing and textiles town, Shanghai grew to importance in the 19th century due to its favorable port location and as one of the cities opened to foreign trade by the 1842 Treaty of Nanking. The City flourished as a center of commerce between east and west, and became a multinational hub of finance and business by the 1930s. After 1990, the economic reforms introduced by Deng Xiaoping resulted in intense re-development and financing in Shanghai, and in 2005 Shanghai became the world's largest cargo port.

Today, Shanghai is the largest center of commerce and finance in mainland China, and has been described as the "showpiece" of the world's fastest-growing major economy.

- Jinmao Tower

Jinmao Tower is a symbol of 21st century Shanghai, at 88 stories, a super high-rise that is 420.5 meters tall, making it the second tallest building in China.

Address: No.2 Pudong Century Blvd.; Website: www.jinmao88.com

- World Architecture on the Bund

The Bund is the symbol of Shanghai and is home to dozens of historical buildings. It is located along the Huangpu River that previously housed banks and trading houses from the United Kingdom, France, the United States, Italy, Russia, and elsewhere. It now has 52 buildings in various architectural styles - Romanesque, Gothic, Renaissance, Baroque, Neo-classical, Beaux-Art, and Art Deco - harmonious in color and style, giving it the name "Gallery of World Architecture".

• Xintiandi (New Heaven and Earth)

Xintiandi is considered as one of China's first lifestyle centers as a pedestrian shopping, dining and entertainment area consisting of restored traditional Shikumen houses in narrow alleys, a modern shopping mall with cinema complex, and some adjoining houses turned into bookstores, cafes and restaurants, most of which provide both indoor and outdoor seating houses, as well as an art gallery.

Address: South Huangpi Rd., near Madang Rd.; Website: www.xintiandi.com

• Oriental Pearl TV Tower

The Oriental Pearl TV Tower is located in Lujiazui, central business district (CBD) of Shanghai. It is 468 meters high, consisting of three main whole-scope sightseeing floors. Tourists can enjoy the dynamic city view of different height.

Address: No.1 Pudong Century Avenue
